

CONTENTS

	PAGE
LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL	iii
PREFACE	v
CHAPTER
I. THE SITUATION AS REGARDS ENGLISH
Marquis E. Shattuck and Walter Barnes	1
Language in American life	4
Reading in American life	9
Preparation through participation	13
II. A MODERN SCHOOL PROGRAM IN ENGLISH
W. Wilbur Hatfield and Walter Barnes	15
Aims	15
Curriculum	15
Method	20
Reading	21
Listening	25
Speech and writing	26
Summary	29
III. THE PROGRAM IN ACTION
Lou L. LaBrant	30
How does a functional program get under way?	31
Development of interests and skills in writing	35
Development of interests and skills in reading	40
Remedial classes	45
Development of ability in speaking and listening	45
The library in the new program	50
Special demands on the teacher	50
IV. SUPERVISORY PROBLEMS INVOLVED IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE PROGRAM
James F. Hoscic	51
How can a consciousness of need and possibility of improvement be awakened?	53

CONTENTS

CHAPTER		PAGE
	How can a new orientation, a better philosophy be attained?	54
	How can plans be developed for bringing about desired improvement?	55
	How shall the supervisor proceed in the light of the facts?	58
	How to provide desirable materials and secure their effective use	59
	How to bring about the coöperation of all teachers in developing and carrying on the program	60
	How to capitalize the varying abilities, interests, and strengths of teachers and others involved	63
	How to build up the personnel—and the morale	64
	How to enlist the patrons and the public	65
	How shall progress be appraised?	66
V. CURRICULUM REVISION AS A SUPERVISORY ACTIVITY
	Angela M. Broening	69
	Use by a city supervisor of English	70
	Use by a state supervisor of English	83
	Use by an elementary supervisor	86
	Use by a director of primary education	89
	Essentials of a curriculum revision program used as a supervisory activity	91
VI. OTHER PRACTICAL PROCEDURES IN SOLVING SUPERVISORY PROBLEMS
	Angela M. Broening	92
	The conference	92
	Observation of teaching	98
	The English teachers' exchange	106
	Experimentation	107
	Tests and examinations	108
	Correspondence	110
	Essentials of any procedure called practical	110
VII. THE FACTOR OF ORGANIZATION
	James F. Hoscic	111
	Analyzing the situation	111
	A coöoperative enterprise	112
	An educational enterprise	113
	Personnel in supervision of English	115
	Consultants needed rather than specialists	117

CONTENTS

xi

CHAPTER

	PAGE
Coöperative group plan of organization	117
Implications for supervision	120
References	121

VIII. THE PERSONALITY AND TRAINING OF THE SUPERVISOR OF

ENGLISH	H. B. Lampert 123
The supervisor as leader	123
The supervisor's personality	125
Research	126
Inspection	127
Coöperative supervision	128
Curriculum building	129
In-service training of teachers	131
Community relationships	132
Effective instructional leadership	133
Training of the supervisor	134
Bibliography	140

IX. RESEARCH CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE MODERN PROGRAM IN

ENGLISH	Harry A. Greene 147
Objectives, content, and placement of the curriculum	147
Methods of instruction in English	154
Measurement of accomplishment in English	157
Bibliography	161

X. THE CHALLENGE OF THE YEARBOOK PROGRAM TO THE AVERAGE
AMERICAN SCHOOL SYSTEM*Dora V. Smith* 165

DEPARTMENTAL RECORDS

Historical note	175
Yearbooks	177
Officers for 1936-1937	178
List of members	179